

Gifts For Creatives | Spectrix

LINDSEY VEHLEWALD | DECEMBER 10, 2014

If you're like us, there's that one person on your holiday shopping list who's difficult. The one who has great taste and a wonderfully curated collection of bits and baubles but is terribly ...exact. You're flummoxed.

You know. The designer. The creative. The artsy-fartsy type.

We get it. We can laugh at ourselves.

Let us take the headache of finding the perfect gifts for creatives. Here's a handful of items that are sure to please the font-philes, the design nerds, and those who gravitate toward delightful design on your list, each item selected by TOKY's team.

Pantone Full House

Think of Spectrix as Rummy for those with a borderline OCD obsession with Roy G. Biv. The brainchild of Funnybone Games, each card is a color swatch and you win by laying down arrays of family color sets. Sounds weird. Isn't. Snap up a copy of this game through Cooper-Hewitt Shop.
