

Give the Gift of Creativity | Disruptus & Spectrix

ARTBEAT ONLINE | DECEMBER 2014

Creativity takes many forms, and trying new things is an important way to get in touch with what creativity means to each of us. Artbeat is all about finding what gets your own creative juices flowing – and having fun along the way. The best gifts not only delight at first sight, they also offers an opportunity to explore, to make, to create – with the end result something to keep and enjoy or give to another – a full circle of gifting.

Our creativity-boosting gifts will delight art enthusiasts as well as the inner artists lurking inside your friends, family, and co-workers.

Artful Play and Brain Games

These gifts will amuse and delight all ages: colorful playful art sculptures that change form in your hands; fine art jigsaw puzzles that offer intriguing insight into familiar images; and the Buddha Board, that teaches the fine art of letting go (the Water Wizard version is for kids). Change your brain with games like Disruptus that challenges the way you look at everyday objects, Spectrix, a familiar card game that uses colors instead of numbers, and Squigz, a suction/construction game that builds with different shapes.
