

Open your mind with this innovation-driven game for creative thinkers

LAURA DOMELA | JUNE 27, 2013

A creative resource for adults and kids alike, Disruptus is "designed to open every mind," and from what we can tell, it works as advertised. Using product flashcards as a starting point, and a die for direction, the game instructs players to either improve, transform, disrupt or create upon the item depicted on the preselected card (or cards). While there are two suggested ways of playing—depending on the number of participants—the rules act more like guidelines than steadfast restrictions, created more to keep the creativity focused and contained. A one-minute sandglass helps too.

via Cool Hunting

Continue reading (at <http://www.coolhunting.com/culture/disruptus-innovation-game.php>)