

Game On!

Six fun games and apps to inspire creative thinkers, boost brain power, and more.

SmartyPants

melissaanddoug.com. $12.99.
“A fun activity to use as filler or when everyone finishes an assignment early.” —Marsha Rains, fourth-grade teacher, Savannah, TN

QUAD:
PLEASE CREATE A MORE REALISTIC SHADOW. PLEASE FOLLOW OUR SHADOW STYLE!

Logik Street

asmodee.com. $19.99.
“My students loved this game! Logik Street develops more higher-order thinking than most games I have seen for [younger students].” —Leann Parrish, kindergarten teacher, Cayuga, IN

QUAD:
PLEASE CREATE A SOFT SHADOW. FOR EACH GAME PIECE. PLEASE FOLLOW OUR SHADOW STYLE!

Disruptus

funnybonetoys.com. $24.99.
“I recommend this game to teachers who promote creativity, language development, cooperation, and thinking outside the box.” —Sharon Forbes, fifth- and sixth-grade teacher, Thornton, CO

Bubble Pop! Math Challenge App
lakeshorelearning.com. Free.
Bubbles aren't just for recess! Challenge math whizzes to solve level-appropriate problems for a lesson bursting with fun.

The Time Tribe: Episode 1
thetimetribe.com. $12.99 (full version).
“This game can be used to support character study. My students were highly engaged.” —Laura Lai, fifth-grade teacher, New York City

Brain Jump With Ned the Neuron
kizoomlabs.com. $0.99.
Designed by teachers and neuroscientists, this app uses memory and concentration games to build brain power.

The best books and products for the classroom.